Ten hardy runners showed up to challenge the Wilkerson Road climb and Mama Mountain. The temperature was 19 at the start and the sky was still clear with a hint of the sun. By the time all the runners finished the sky was leaden but we were gone before the snow. Juan Antonio Rivera took the lead from the start by missed the final turn to the trail up Mama Mountain. He did turn around to complete the course but ended up running 10K instead of 5 miles. He caught everyone but Kirk Ingold over the final trail section.
